Attention job seekers: Get the scoop on getting ahead at the E3 Career and Resource Fair

Free fair will help job seekers find work, change careers or start their own business

Aurora, Colo. Arapahoe/Douglas Works! is inviting job seekers to attend a free fair aimed at helping them find work, change careers, or start their own business. The E3 Career and Resource Fair is scheduled for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 29, at the Colorado Convention Center. The event focuses on employment, education and economic growth in Colorado, and will round off celebrations in September as part of Colorado Workforce Development Month.

“We’re thrilled to participate in this fair, which offers access to solid employment opportunities and other information designed to lend job seekers a competitive edge,” said Patricia Buys, Arapahoe/Douglas Works! Director. “From seminars on entrepreneurship, to employer panel discussions and resume critiquing, there’s something for everyone wanting to improve their prospects for success in the workplace.”

Several corporate, educational, government and non-profit organizations will participate in employer panel discussions to explain their business, and outline employment opportunities and the education required to get into a variety of careers—from hospitality, healthcare and homeland security, to biotech and nanotechnology. Participating employers include Ball Aerospace, Starz Encore, Sun Microsystems, RTD, Met Life, Nextel, Qwest, UPS, Avaya, and Kaiser Permanente. Seminars topics include the ins and outs of starting your own business, tax information during your transition, and entrepreneurship. Job seekers can also have their resumes critiqued by Arapahoe/Douglas Works! professionals at the event.
