

Tsistsistas-Hinono'einiihi' Park

Location: 9200 E. Iowa Ave., Denver, within unincorporated Arapahoe County

Size: 5 acre park

Park Hours: Dawn to dusk

Features: Enjoy a peaceful walk, relax with a good book, play with your children or discover the natural shrubs and wildflowers which are magnificent in season.

The park includes two connected circular gravel pathways, large turf area and several park benches.

In order to maintain the natural beauty of the park motorized vehicles and bicycles are not permitted. Dogs must be on a leash at all times.

History: Tsistsistas-Hinono'einiihi' Park is the park's its official name but most folks find it easier to call it the Cheyenne/ Arapaho Park. The park honors the Plains Native American tribes with a Cheyenne/Arapaho inspired sculpture and council gathering ring.

Maintenance: Provided by the City of Aurora Parks Department through an agreement with Arapahoe County. For maintenance concerns, call 303-739-7160.
